MUSIC

Seattle's best new alt-country band

SEATTLE HAS been swooning this year to the sweet sounds of The Head and The Heart (theheadandtheheart.com). The sextet's self-titled debut LP was released in June and met with immediate praise for its surprisingly seasoned sound. The band members play with a synergistic cohesion that suggests they've been together for years. Beautifully harmonized vocals, sweet piano and violin accents with down-home guitar riffs decorate timeless music that moves our heads and our hearts.
